Year 3 learning:

Week beginning: Monday 29th September 2025

English	Next week, we will continue developing our innovated stories based on The Greenship , our current class text. We will begin by reading our work so far aloud to the class, providing an opportunity to reflect on our writing and gather feedback. The children will then move on to planning and writing paragraphs three and four to complete their stories. Throughout the process, they will be encouraged to incorporate a range of language features, including adjectives, prepositions, expanded noun phrases, and accurate punctuation.
Maths	In Maths, we will be continuing our work on addition and subtraction. The children will focus on adding and subtracting ones, tens, and hundreds, including calculations that involve crossing over the tens and hundreds boundaries. They will also consolidate their counting in steps of 50.
Science	This week, we will be continuing with our two ongoing scientific investigations. The first examines the essential conditions required for healthy plant growth, while the second explores the process of water transportation within plants. We will continue to observe and measure the progress of our plants in order to evaluate the accuracy of our initial predictions. Additionally, we will be monitoring the water transportation experiment to assess the movement and effects of the dyed water.
Topic	This week, the children will begin their new Design and Technology topic, with a focus on food. To engage and inspire them at the start of the unit, they will be introduced to a creative challenge: designing a sandwich suitable for a journey aboard The Greenship . As part of the process, the children will first taste and evaluate a variety of breads and sandwich fillings. Drawing on their observations and preferences, they will then design their own sandwich, considering flavour, texture, and suitability for the intended purpose.
